Up for the challenge

Scoring a whopping 246 points, Horn Academy took first place at the UIL Academics Department's recent elementary school academics tournament held at Yates High School. Attracting more than 200 students from 12 HISD elementary schools, the contest challenged students in academic events such as creative writing, mathematics, spelling, impromptu speaking and social studies. Horn's team included Zack Pham, Kayla Williams, Sloan Rigamonti, Derek Adrion, Sarah Morgan, Han Zhang, Greer Beasley, Sidney Botello, Mackenzie Parsons,

Baked with more than love

Runners participating in the upcoming Run for the Rose on April 11 at Reliant Stadium will enjoy the smell of fresh-baked cranberry pumpkin bread to keep them moving to the finish line. Friends and family members of the late Naomi Sheldon Lob de Lieuneuve will bake and sell almost 500 loaves of her delicious recipe at the race, with proceeds benefiting brain tumor research. Naomi, a pastry chef in Durango, Colorado, was known to bake pumpkin loaves for the homeless and less fortunate in her hometown and in Houston during her medical treatment. Along with friends, Naomi's brother and sister-in-law, Steven and Linda Sheldon, will be in the kitchens again this year to bake in Naomi's honor. Pictured are (from left) Valerie Wallace, Missy Friedman and Naomi's sister, Roslyn Phillips at last year's baking day. Email Carole Sheldon at gmseldon@sbcglobal.net if you'd like to join the baking frenzy on April 8 or check out whiteelephantfoundation.com for more info.

Sakes alive – he's 75

Andra and Tim McConnell's plans to host a party celebrating Elvis' 75th birthday with family and friends seemed simple enough, until below-freezing temperatures gripped the city in January, forcing a last-minute change of venue just two hours before party time. But Andra stayed calm, cool and collected by moving the Elvis-inspired soiree to Post Oak Grill with just minutes to spare before guests arrived and "The King" began entertaining the crowd. Joining in the celebration were Donna and Tim Cramer and former Bellaire city councilwoman Debbie Davison with husband Steve Davison. Pictured are (from left) Polo Becerra, Tim McConnell and L.J. Anrad enjoying the music of Elvis.

Lending a helping hand

Fourth- through sixth-grade students at The Post Oak School held a bake sale in January to benefit the victims of the earthquake in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. More than $4,450 was generated through sales of cookies and other sweets. The students are proud to have quickly developed plans for this fundraiser and presented a check to the American Red Cross. Pictured presenting their donation to the Red Cross are (front row, from left) Isabel Windham, Lydia Cornwell, Charlotte Baird, Isabella Scianti, Sydney Pulaski, (back row, from left) Connie Tuthill, CFO for Greater Houston Area Chapter of the American Red Cross, Larson Moye, Akshat Sood and Tenille Tubbs.
